DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION BEST IN BLAIRMORE HISTORY

Blaimore was favored by the weather than for their annual July 1st celebration. Thousands of people began to gather in the early hours of morning, and by 9.30 the main street was thronged with folks in gala and colorful holiday attire.

The procession assembled in the town park for the formal opening, included about five hundred kiddies armed with balloons and flags. Led by the Mounted Police forming the color party with the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes at the head, the parade presented a spectacle for the throngs lining the streets; made up of war veterans, soldiers, "Cats," I.O. D.E., Slovak society, girl guides, etc., and interspersed with floats and decorated cars and bicycles, many a hearty cheer was given as each group enlivened air.

A preliminary address was given at the bandstand by Mayor E. Williams, followed by the singing of "O Canada." The procession then wound its way west and east through town and over to the sports field, where addresses were delivered by Hugh Farthing, K.C. of Calgary; E. O. Duke, M.L.A., and the mayor.

Following the addresses, winners of parade prizes were announced, judges being A. F. Short, Coleman; G. E. Cruickshank and E. O. Duke, Hillcrest, as follows: Best decorated float, Crows' Nest Chapter, I.O.D.E.; second, First National Slovak Society; best decorated automobile, Coleman Legion of the B.E.S.L.; second (did not have name); best decorated bicycle, Lawrence Otteson, "There'll Always be an England;" second, Beatrice Peressini, "We Need You Now;" special prize, Josephine Wislet and Etienne Richard, "We're in the Army Now."

AAVALEDO-GOODWIN

Before flower-banked altars in the United church in Bellevue, a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, June 28th, united Mr. Goering (Gerry) Bert Aavale, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Aavale, of Bellevue, and Miss Myrtle Grace Goodwin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Milnes, of Bellevue.

The bride, charming in a gown of white satin and carrying a bouquet of lilies and roses, entered the church on the arm of her step-father, Mr. Milnes, who gave her in marriage. They were preceded by little Leone Jordan in white muslin as flower girl, Mrs. Evelyn Jordan as matron of honor and Mrs. Muriel D'Amico, of Coleman, and Miss Bertha Aavale, of Brocket, as attendants. The maids of honor presented a striking color scheme in dresses of flowered organdie in pink, blue and maize, respectively, with cape veils, and all carried gladioli. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Albert Aavale. The Rev. W. H. Irwin officiated and Mr. Harold Mark presided at the organ, while Mrs. Irwin rendered "I love you truly" during the signing of the register.

The ceremony over, immediate relatives repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where her mother, Mrs. Milnes, received in a costume of Queen Elizabeth blue, and the groom's mother, wearing black crepe with white trimmings. At the tables Mr. Fred Padgett proposed a toast to the King and Empire, and Rev. Irwin to the bride and groom. Later in the evening the happy couple left on a short honeymoon, after which they will take up residence at Bellevue.

The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross have a fine display of goods in the window of the Blaimore Hardware Co. These articles, made locally, will be sent to England shortly to aid the children of bombed out areas.

Mrs. Annie H. Moore, of Vancouver, B.C., and Lieutenant Larry Howard, of the Royal Canadian Artillery, Victoria, B.C., were holiday guests of Mrs. A. M. Dutil. Both are former residents of Blaimore, their father, the late Harry Howard, being proprietor of the Cosmopolitan hotel from 1901 to 1911.

In the daily press, from the platform, over the air, through government pamphlets, Canadians are being regaled daily with serried rows of statistics detailing in various forms and in differing language with the accomplishments of the Canadian war effort covering now nearly two years of the great fight in the history of the world.

Each month now there comes to hand a bulletin issued by the Director of Public Information at Ottawa, entitled "Canada at War," a summary of Canada's part in the war since September 10, 1939. "It is intended," states a preliminary note, "to serve as a source of material for speakers and those who ask for up-to-date information about Canada's participation in the war. It will be revised monthly and will contain the most recent of available facts and figures."

Dealing with all aspects of the Canadian war effort, including contributions which have been made to date in the supply of men, materials and resources, the efforts being put forth by Canadians in the theatre of war as well as on the home front, with the result of voluntary organizational departments and boards, the booklet affords a valuable, yet concise compendium of information on the Canadian war achievement to date.

Although apparently designed principally as a handbook for speakers and possibly writers, it is a booklet deserving of study by the general public. Since it is factual, the information it contains can safely be regarded as accurate and the data can be used as a basis for arriving at conclusions without fear of basing conclusions on false premises.

This latter is highly important, for while it is possible to arrive at false conclusions based on facts whose veracity cannot be questioned, faulty premises can never lead to sound opinions. In the gigantic struggle in which this country is playing an important role, it is important as never before, that the people be given straight facts, in order that they may arrive at sound conclusions, for it is only on such a foundation that they can unite in maximum strength for the maximum effort absolutely essential to ultimate victory.

Tempered Satisfaction

There can be no gainsaying the statement that Canada entered the war relatively unprepared with a comparatively weak military establishment and an industrial plant unadapted to war requirements. Since that time great changes have taken place and much has been accomplished in placing the country on a war time basis and in meeting the requirements imposed upon the country as a partner with others in the Allied drive against world domination by Hitler and his hordes.

It may bring a sense of comfort and satisfaction to read, for instance, that: "Since the outbreak of the war Canada has diverted an ever-increasing portion of her resources, both human and material, into her war effort. The 1941-42 budget provides between 35 and 40 per cent. of the national income for war. More than a quarter million Canadians are serving in the active armed forces abroad and at home. . . . Moreover, Canada's industrial capacity has very largely been turned over to war production in the months since the outbreak of the war."

These are undoubted facts and Canadians are justified in taking some pride in what has been achieved to date, but that pride and satisfaction must be tempered by the knowledge and unquestioned belief that much more must be done, that the tempo of effort must be raised to a higher degree, before it will be possible to say that nothing has been left undone that can be done and that every last sacrifice that can be made by every individual in the nation has been made.

"Canada's war plans for the balance of this year have been made on the basis of consultations held early this year with the heads of Britain's Navy, Army and Air Force, with Prime Minister Churchill and with other high officials in Britain," says the concluding paragraph of a general summary in the booklet referred to, and adds: "Canadian ministers told these officials that Canada's object is a full-out contribution with everything Canada has and as fast as she can give it."

Complete Fulfillment

These words denote that a solemn promise has been made on behalf of the Canadian people and they naturally inspire the question whether or not we have yet reached the stage in our war effort when we can say that this promise has reached fulfillment. That is a personal question and one which every Canadian must ask himself or herself: "Is there something more that I could do that I have not yet done? Is my contribution to the war effort enough? Is there yet some sacrifice that I could make that I have not yet made?" Upon the answer to these questions by every individual in the land depends the ultimate outcome of the war effort.

As the Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said in a recent speech on behalf of the Victory Loan campaign:

"We are at war; we must work, fight, win, or perish together."

Large Order For Aluminum

The United States expects to buy 200,000,000 pounds of aluminum from Canada as part of a plan to double the available supply of this essential wartime material in 1942. A few weeks ago the United States placed a $63,000,000 order for aluminum with the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Halley's comet is mentioned in many historical sources dating back to 240 B.C.

Ready For Emergency

London hotels are much interested in a report that in a recent English provincial blitz a small hotel, when all public utility services were temporarily out of order, was able to serve 600 meals to homeless children. This was because of an alternative kitchen installation by food club.

Cause For Indignation

Blitz, blitz: Women in the Midlands have become indignant because some tobaccoists in an effort to conserve cigarettes for men have posted a notice telling them they will not be served because "It's not necessary for women to smoke."

The Trumpets of Victory

Will Sound For Nations Who Are Fighting For Liberty And Peace. Nine Governments which have lost to Hitler every foot of their territory joined Britain and her dominions in declaring that they will fight him and the man whom Churchill described as his "uttered lackey" until victory is won; that there can be no settled peace and prosperity so long as free peoples are violently coerced, and that they will work together to achieve a "world in which, relieved of the menace of aggression, all may enjoy economic and social security."

The laughter of Berlin's tawdry gods may be imagined in advance. What now are Cascho-Slovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Belgium, Yugoslavia, "free France"? The iron boot has trampled on them all. On their soil only the Quislings are free to speak, and then only to parrot the diabolical preachings of Berchtesgaden.

Berlin may laugh again when the Prime Minister of Britain states his faith "that every trace of Hitler's footsteps, every stain of his infected, corroding fingers will be sponged and purged and, it need be, blasted from the surface of the earth." But when Berlin's laughter is over there will come, even there, dark watches in the night. This meeting was no hollow ceremony. Confidence and resolution breathed from it. Its members looked with hope westward across the Atlantic. They were not beaten Governments or beaten men. In sacrifice as in valiant words they have proved their worth. Under the flail of fate democracy has come awake. When we give our help and our hands to them we join in the mean cause. Beyond to-day's blackness the trumpets of victory will sound.—New York Times.

Primitive Literature

Very Apily Describes Essay By Young Aberdeen Boy

As the ultimate in simplicity—or an example of primitive literature, as the highbrows call it—there is this essay by the Aberdeen boy of 10. It is reproduced from the current issue of Country Life in B.C. The lad was asked to write on Birds and Beasts and this is what he wrote:

The bird I am going to write about is the owl. The owl can not see at all in the daytime, and at night is as blind as a bat. I do not know much about the owl, so I will go to the best which I am going to choose. It is the cow.

The cow is a mammal and it is tame. It has six legs, right, left, fore, back, and upper and a below. At the back it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends flies away, so that they will not fall into the milk.

The head is for the purpose of growing the horns, and so that the mouth can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with. The mouth is to moo with.

Under the cow hangs the milk. When people come the milk comes fore, back, and upper and a below. The milk does not come. How the cow does it I have not yet realized, but it makes more and more. The cow has a fine sense of smell. One can smell it far away. This is the reason for the fresh air of the country. When the cow is hungry it moo, and when it says nothing it is because it's inside is full of grass. It always eats twice so that it can get enough.—Calgary Albertan.

Bacon Price Increased

Export Bacon Jumps 75 Cents Per Hundred Pounds

Closed on the heels of a request that Canadians eat less bacon and pork products during the summer, the bacon board announced an increase of 75 cents per 100 pounds in the price to be paid for bacon exported to the United Kingdom. The recent increase brought the price for top grade export bacon to $18.60 per 100 pounds.

The increase followed a price boost of 75 cents a hundredweight for grade A No. 1 sizeable Whitefish sold on May 20, and a previous rise of $1 per 100 pounds on May 1. The new price is applicable to all products put into cure for export. According to previous announcements this advance in bacon prices will be borne by the dominion.

Egg Market Strong

Britain May Require A Large Supply Of Eggs

Indications are that Great Britain will require an increasingly large supply of eggs from Canada during the third year of the war. The Dominion Department of Agriculture believes it is now too late to prepare for the demand through the purchase of baby chicks, but a great deal can be done by a careful selection and carrying over of all available laying stock. There is a noticeable tendency at the present time on the part of poultry producers to reduce laying flocks, the marketing of fowl being quite heavy during the first two weeks in June.

While it is true that a great many yearlings were kept over last fall and in the ordinary course of events now is the time when two year olds, and birds that have completed their lay, should go to market. Poultry producers, however, would be well advised to look over their yearling stock carefully and to retain for laying purposes all birds which are physically fit and in such condition as to insure a maximum egg production during the next 12 months.

A Perfect Memory

Good Story Told About Indian On Plantation in Kentucky

The story is told of a Kentucky colonel who had an argument with Satan. The devil said that no person "had a perfect memory." The colonel maintained there was an Indian on his plantation who never forgot anything. The colonel agreed to forfeit his soul to the devil if the Indian ever forgot anything.

The devil went up to the Indian and said: "Do you like eggs?" To which the Indian replied, "Yes." The devil went away.

Twenty years later the old colonel died. The devil thought, "Aha, here's my chance."

The devil returned to earth and presented himself before the Indian. Raising his hand, the devil gave the tribal salutation, "How?"

Quick as a wink the Indian replied, "Fried."

India Is United

No Leader Will Do Anything To Help Nazis Win

To all but a few Canadians, India is still the fabulous land—a sleeping giant—dreaming of the past. Actually, the giant is awake to-day and fighting mad. This is vouched for by Malik Sir Pior Khan Noon, high commissioner for India in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, who recently arrived in Toronto. "No matter what the disparity of creed or race, cast or political belief, all India is united in its utter detestation of the totalitarian forms of government in Europe and Asia," he said. "No Indian leader (and this includes Mahatma Gandhi) will do anything that will help the Nazis to victory," he emphasized.

Need Skilled Men

Present Personnel Of Canadian Army Second To None, Says

Adjutant-General. "In this war it takes more than a uniform to make a soldier," Major-General B. W. Browne, D.S.O., M.C., Adjutant-General, and the man at the head of the organization that looks after the personnel of the army, and personal welfare of the individual soldier, stated recently in a radio broadcast, appealing for more men for the army.

It takes a long time to train men for a modern mechanized army and time to provide equipment. That is why so much emphasis is placed on training, and why Canadian soldiers are being fully trained before going overseas. It is also the reason that skilled men are wanted, and that organization within the army has been set up to train unskilled men, the Adjutant-General explained.

Commenting on the type of men who have signed up and who are signing up, Major-General Browne stated that this country may well be proud of its army, and compared with the men who fought in the last war, they will not fail to give an equally good account of themselves.

Suited To Our Time

Prayer Made By Francis Drake More Than 350 Years Ago

One April day more than 350 years ago a man made a prayer to God as he was about to set forth upon a great and hazardous expedition. His name was Francis Drake, where lay his mind was bound for Cadiz, where lay his ships intended for the Spanish Armada. This prayer, his words, among them is history. His prayer, before setting out is also history.

"O Lord God, when Thou givest Thy servants to endeavor any great task, cut it shortening. And water a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about 1/4 inch thickness."

That prayer of Drake's was used in many churches in Britain during a recent national day of prayer. There is a phrase in it which may well serve as the Empire's motto at this time: "Continuing of the same until it be thoroughly finished."—Toronto Star.

Gone Too Far Wrong

Prince Bernhard Seen No Chances For Return Of Old Germany

Prince Bernhard, husband of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, action of one of the oldest families in Germany, who became "100 per cent. Dutch," when he married the Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, declared at Boston that the German people have gone so far wrong under the Nazi regime that, in his opinion, it is virtually impossible for the old Germany of culture and learning to be reborn even after the Reich's "defeat."

The Prince Consort, who was the Prince of Lippe-Blaserfeld before he married the heiress to the Netherlands throne in the pre-war days of 1937, asserted there was nothing but bitterness in his heart for his former Fatherland. "It is now an honorary officer in Britain's Royal Air Force and works from morning to night for the Allied cause."

"I don't think there is any chance of the old Germany coming back," he said. "It would take years to get the German people straight."

"They had their chances before Hitler came into power. Since they didn't take them—since they have gone along with what has been done—I think they are going to have to take what is coming to them when Germany is defeated."

Prince Bernhard's first tribute was to the English people. He said that "everything you read of their courage is true."

"In the days of the terrible September raids the Government gave $50,000 and a large quantity of clothing for relief of the poor people of East End," he related. "It was there five-times a day in connection with the distribution. I'd try to comfort them and they'd say: 'We're quite all right—do tell us how are your wife and children?'"

CALL A MEETING TO DISCUSS THE WHEAT QUESTION

Ottawa.—Representatives of the four major wheat-exporting countries, troubled by the weight of grain surplus now on hand, will meet in Washington on July 10 to discuss questions relating to international trade in wheat after the war, Trade Minister MacKinnon said. The conference was decided on some weeks ago, and invitations were sent out by United States. Canada, with a wheat surplus of 500,000,000 bushels, expressed readiness to take part in the discussions.

Mr. MacKinnon said officials of Canada, United States, Argentina and Australia will attend, and the United Kingdom, as the principal wheat importing country will be represented.

"The purpose of the meeting will be to exchange information and views as to steps which might be taken to safeguard against excessive competition for markets following the conclusion of hostilities," Mr. MacKinnon said.

Canadian officials who will attend the conference have not yet been named, but it is expected that George Melvor, chief commissioner, Canadian wheat board, would be the principal Canadian representative along with R. V. Biddulph, European commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, Dr. C. F. Wilson, chief, agricultural statistics, Dominion bureau of statistics, and representatives of the departments of agriculture and external affairs.

Washington.—The United States agriculture department reported world supplies of wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1 were expected to surpass the 1938 record of 5,598,000,000 bushels.

This year's crop was forecast at about the same as last year's production of 4,042,000,000 bushels, but reserves of old grain were said to be the largest on record, due principally to the war's restriction of export trade.

Production in the northern hemisphere may not be very different the department said, from the 3,608,000,000 bushels produced last year. Increases in Europe and United States were expected to about offset decreases in Canada and the Orient.

Present crop prospects in Europe indicated a production larger than the small crop of about 1,350,000,000 bushels harvested last year, but still below the 10-year (1931-40) average of 1,573,000,000. Prospects were said to be poorest in the Balkans.

Production in the southern hemisphere may possibly total between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels, more than last year's crop of about 435,000,000 bushels, the department said.

The Canadian surplus was said to total about 540,000,000 of the greatest quantity ever carried over by a single nation. The department said that if Canada did not produce a bushel of wheat in 1941 and 1942, its surplus would be almost sufficient to care for the country's domestic needs for the two years and in addition provide exports equal to the average in the five-years (1935-39) period.

Raider Sunk

Powerful German Motorship Elbe Attacked By British Fleet Plane

New York.—The German motorship passenger liner Elbe, 9,179 tons, which slipped out of Kobe, Japan, last February reportedly to raid shipping, has been attacked by a British fleet plane in the North Atlantic and probably sunk, maritime sources said.

They said the attack took place about 900 miles northwest of the Cape Verde islands and 1,300 miles west of Villa Cisneros, Rio de Oro, West Africa.

The powerful and fast Elbe was used by the North German Lloyd line for its pre-war German-Japan service.

Anti-Nazi Activity In Norway

Montreal.—The Trade Union movements has become one of the centres of anti-Nazi activity in Norway, according to the International Labor Review, published by the International Labor office here. The Review said the occupation authorities have failed to overcome the resistance of the trade unions.

Publication Banned

Ottawa.—Publication of a French language weekly newspaper called "La Voix du Peuple" at Montreal is prohibited. The order is made under the Defence of Canada regulations.

Aid For Russia

Steady Bombing Of Industrial Areas In Germany

London.—The only military help Britain is able to give the Soviet Union is "a steady pounding of German industrial areas and occupied France" by the Royal Air Force, a highly placed informant said. This source declared this aerial pounding might in time draw German air force units from the eastern front.

Far-reaching plans are nearing fruition to give the Russians technical and economic co-operation. A mission of soldiers, sailors, airmen and transport and economic warfare experts will leave for Moscow soon, it was stated.

There have been no calls for stronger blows on the continent than those dealt by the Royal Air Force. Moreover, military experts have pointed out in the press that the Germans probably have withdrawn a considerable force from western Europe to cope with the large Russian army, but highly placed observers declare the British have not yet the equipment nor the trained men to make a successful landing.

Meanwhile, the high British source said, Britain is doing everything possible to complete the alignment against Germany and to solidify Russian-British co-operation.

Turkey was declared to be the largest diplomatic problem now before Britain. The informant said he hoped that "the spectacle of the Nazis faced by Russia on the east and by ourselves with the United States close behind on the west" would swing the Turks to Britain.

Too Much Confidence

People Should Be Awake To The Seriousness Of War

Ottawa.—From London, where for six years he served as councillor at Canada House, Lester B. Pearson told a Canadian Club luncheon audience to get away from the idea that Britain could not lose the war, complete the alignment against Germany and to solidify Russian-British co-operation.

"People should not rely on the assurance 'There'll always be an England' or 'Don't worry, Britain always wins the last battle' or 'Time is on our side,' Mr. Pearson said.

"Time is on our side only if we take advantage of it," he declared. "We might lose the last battle, without knowing it was the last battle."

"I can see no advantage in parroting either in Ottawa or London that we cannot lose this war. Of course we can lose this war. Any empire can lose any war and, the sooner we all realize that fact the sooner will we be certain that we will not lose the war."

"If we had been convinced just before 1939 that war was inevitable then there might have been no war."

Deal With Nazis

To Clear German And Italian Consuls Out Of The Continent

Washington.—It was reported the United States is seeking co-operation of other American republics in presenting ousted German and Italian consular officials and propagandists from going to any other country in this hemisphere.

German consular officials have been ordered to leave the United States July 10, and the Italians five days later. The attempt to keep them from settling elsewhere in the Americas is the latest in a series of moves to combat subversive activities.

Help For War Guests

Independent Order Of Odd Fellows Has Sent Second Cheque

Toronto.—A cheque for $7,300, for British war guests in Canada, was handed by Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines and resources, Ottawa, from the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The presentation was made by Grand Master C. M. Iredale at the annual banquet of the organization here. The cheque was the second presented to the government by the Odd Fellows, the first being for $10,000.

Volunteers For Service

New York.—Adolf Hitler's sister-in-law has volunteered for service with the British war relief. She is Mrs. Bridget Elizabeth Hitler, Irish-born wife of the Nazi dictator's brother, Alois. Mrs. Hitler is seeking an appointment charging her husband deserted in 1914.

Sweden Prepares

New York.—Swedish naval and military reserves will be called to the colors immediately, the Swedish radio reported in a broadcast heard by NBC.

Could Help Russia

Canada's Large Surplus Wheat Stocks Would Supply Food

Ottawa.—Trade Minister MacKinnon foresees the possibility the Russian wheat harvest, especially in the Ukraine, would be hampered by war operations and said Canada, with large surplus wheat stocks, would be in a position to help Russia with food supplies if required.

The minister said information available to Dominion statistical authorities showed the Russian wheat areas in the last four years approximated 100,000,000 acres. Ukrainian and Caucasian acreage was about 47,500,000 and as yields in these areas was higher than in other parts of the country, half of Russia's total production was located there.

Education Goes On

Although Nazis Have Destroyed Many School Buildings In Britain

London.—J. C. Ede, parliamentary secretary to the board of education, said that despite destruction of many school buildings by Nazi air raiders, full-time education was available to 96.5 per cent. of elementary school children as of April 1. Since Dec. 6, he declared, the number receiving no instruction has been reduced from 100,000 to 40,745—a gain of 3.3 per cent.

TO SPEED UP THE FLOW OF PLANES ACROSS ATLANTIC

Washington.—The latest agency adopted by the United States government to implement its policy of all-out aid to Britain is the air corps ferry command of the Navy.

Its job is to speed up delivery of planes to the jumping-off places for the Atlantic hop or shipping centres along the coast. Col. Robert Olds, in charge of the ferry corps, believes it will be an important factor in accelerating the flow of planes and repair parts across the Atlantic.

Pilots of the United States army will take planes from factories to such destinations as Newfoundland and Bermuda, where the ferry service maintained by the British government will take charge. This service, with headquarters in Montreal, operates under Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, former commander of the R.A.F. coastal command.

Headquarters of the air corps ferry command is hidden away in a back corridor of an munitions building here in Washington. So far, it exists mainly on paper but it has been organized on an extremely wide scale.

When it is functioning as it is planned, the ferry corps will have inspectors in every aircraft assembly plant or parts factory. There is practically no aircraft manufacturer in the United States who makes every part of a plane. The engine comes from one factory, the guns from an arsenal, and other components from a score of more factories. They are merely assembled in the aircraft factory.

It may develop that unfinished planes will be flown from a factory to air corps stations where they can be completed in order to speed up work in the aircraft plants but this idea has not been worked out in detail yet.

Rifle Production

Weekly Output Of 5,000 The Immediate Objective

Ottawa.—Production of Lee-Enfield rifles by Small Arms, Limited, at Long Branch, near Toronto, is now getting under way with a weekly output of 5,000 as the immediate objective, Munitions Minister Howe told the Canadian Press.

Plans are already in motion to double the plant's output, the minister said. He visited the plant recently and fired one of the first rifles produced.

This is the first rifle plant to come into operation in Canada since the war started. It is a government-owned company operated as a part of the Dominion arsenal.

Protect Merchant Ships

Provide New Type Of Guns For Low Flying Planes

Auckland, N.Z.—A new type of short-range anti-aircraft gun is being provided for merchant ships with specially trained gun crews, to deal with low-flying planes, Vice-Admiral Royle, former fifth sea lord, stated here while en route to become chief of the Australian naval staff.

Long-range bombers have been flying exceedingly low, just above the coast-heads, and Admiral Royle said the new guns being fitted on the ships were the answer. He has been conferring with New Zealand government officials here before proceeding to Australia.

Turkish Ship Sunk

Torpedoed By Submarine, With Heavy Loss Of Life

New York.—The Turkish steamship Rifa, carrying officers and men described as the "cream of the Turkish navy and mercantile marine," was torpedoed and sunk by an unidentified submarine, Martin Agronsky, NBC reporter, said in a broadcast from Ankara. He reported 173 of the 201 passengers on the ship were lost.

Agronsky said 100 Turkish naval officers and men aboard the Rifa were en route to Britain.

Survivors said the torpedo broke the ship in two and that only one lifeboat could be launched, and in this 25 passengers were saved, the commissioner reported.

The Turkish government had made arrangements with both Germany and Italy to ensure safe passage of the vessel, he added.

Agronsky said "The incident aroused considerable popular feeling here as the Turkish ship carried an illuminated Turkish flag on her stern and illuminated flag on both her sides."

One Thing In Common

Great Britain And Russia Are Facing Same Ruthless Foe

London.—Lord Cranborne, Dominions secretary, in a statement to the house of lords announced a military and economic mission would leave for Russia "at an early date."

"We are poles apart both in matters of politics and religion," he said, "but Soviet Russia and Britain have this in common: They are facing the same ruthless foe."

Lord Samuel said Bolshevism generally was disapproved in Britain but recalled that Britain was allied to czarist Russia in the first Great War though disapproving of czarism. It was a proposition "almost as certain as Euclid" that states which were enemies of the same state were allies of one another.

EXPRESS VIEWS ON GERMAN FIGHT WITH RED ARMY

Berne, Switzerland.—Possibility of a quick Nazi military victory over Russia, but a long economic fight to exploit the conquered territory, is foreseen by some military quarters in this central European observation post.

All comments on the struggle were tempered by a vague knowledge of Russia's military capacities, but it was the general opinion that in the final analysis the Red army, despite masses of manpower, would be unable to withstand the onslaught of experienced German troops.

Recalling the speed with which the Nazis overran Poland, the Low Countries and the Balkans, one military man remarked "The Germans always defeat the Russian army was a six-to-eight-week job."

Other military sources said the terrain into which the Germans were moving was suited perfectly for the German type of swift, slashing, encircling attack.

One neutral army officer, who has made a study of Russia for his government, declared the Russians have 250 divisions of trained and equipped troops, average 18,000 to a division, plus 15 mechanized brigades and as many armored units as the Germans. The Russian armored divisions were deemed poor in quality and less efficiently manned.

The Red air force was presumed here to be long on quantity but short on quality.

In view of the German army's "bargain rate" valuation of Russian soldiers it was believed here the Germans think they can finish off the Russians and consolidate gains before they are threatened seriously by any resurgence of Britain and her allies.

However, if the Russian army is able to keep intact or reform after initial setbacks, the Nazis would be harassed continually during their occupation of the Russian territory.

Recent visitors to Russia reported the Soviet had built colonies and industries behind the Ural mountains and suggested the Nazis might have to drive across the mountains in order to stop resistance.

At any rate, it seemed certain that administering a territory as vast as southern and western Russia—with a population of 50,000,000 in the Ukraine and Caucasus alone—would be a far heavier task than controlling countries of a few millions such as Norway, Belgium and Yugoslavia.

SAY OFFENSIVE AGAINST RUSSIA PLANNED EARLIER

New York.—Trustworthy sources have told the Associated Press that Germany's offensive against Russia was planned originally for last autumn.

There also were suggestions that the plan actually was behind the invasion of Poland, having been thwarted by the British-French declaration of war when Hitler had believed they would not fight.

But the reports only went back as far as last fall, when intimations of the German plan, reaching Moscow, were said to have been responsible for Soviet Premier Molotov's sudden journey to see Hitler last November, after which Nazi pressure veered southward into the Balkans.

Mussolini's premature launching of war against Greece also was considered a factor in Hitler's change of plan.

As told by persons in a good position to know, the course of developments was about as follows:

Germany never trusted the Soviet government. Despite the Russo-German non-aggression pact, and this distrust—as much as a desire to obtain bases against Britain—prompted Hitler to venture the Norwegian campaign.

Later, her hand busy with the war in France, Germany acquiesced when Russia annexed the three Baltic states, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, thereby eliminating a buffer area protecting East Prussia.

As a result of the Russian occupation of the Baltic states, Germany evacuated many thousands of German nationals and persons of German race, including families whose homes had been there since the days of the Tsarist regime.

But all this was extremely distasteful to Germany.

Then came plausible reports Russia was pouring even larger forces into Soviet-occupied Poland as well as into Soviet Baltic states. Germany accordingly strengthened her forces in East Prussia and German-occupied Poland, this movement continuing even into last December, parallel with tense Balkan developments.

Meanwhile, after the fall of France, Germany had obtained agreement from Sweden and Finland for the transit of troops across their territories.

Finland was acutely worried over recurrent incidents on the Russo-Finnish frontier and began to view Germany as a power whose help might be vital in the future.

With the transit agreement signed, arms and plans began arriving in Finland from Germany, including field kitchens and artillery captured from the French. Loans from Sweden helped the Finns finance new defence construction, and Sweden close to their government predicted Sweden would fight with Finland this time if the Russians again attacked.

Germany also was ready to act, and the conflict was expected in October—but something happened to alter her plans; either the Russian move or the premature outbreak of hostilities in Greece.

In any case, German troops already were moving through Finland, within easy striking distance of the Russian border.

Huge Exports

U.S. Shipments To Britain In April Largest In Any Month

In Twenty Years

Washington.—Lend-lease and other merchandise shipments to the United Kingdom in April, the commerce department said, made the largest total of goods to go to Britain from the United States in any month in 20 years.

Shipments to the United Kingdom in April totalled $128,000,000 but the British empire as a whole received $246,000,000 of American goods, or about 81 per cent. of the $305,454,000 exports. Canada received $70,000,000, the next largest amount.

British Health Remarkable

London.—Medical authorities said in a report that Britain's public health is "absolutely remarkable" despite the exigencies of war. One physician said it had been feared the nation would suffer from a prevalence of dysentery but the cases so far have been normal summer ones.

For India's Protection

Bombay.—A strong appeal to Hindus and Moslems to compose their differences and establish a "working truce" for India's protection was made by Sir Akbar Hydari, chief adviser to the Naam of Hyderabad.

Sharetta-Pierzchala

A pretty wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends took place at St. Theresa's church in Hillcrest on Saturday, June 28th, at 10 a.m., when Miss Eva Sharetta, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharetta, of Hillcrest, became the bride of Mr. Frank Pierzchala, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pierzchala, of Bellevue. Rev. Father Anderson performed the ceremony.

The bride was charmingly attired in a dress of traditional silk chiffon on Grecian lines, with a chapel veil made up in a form of a halo to match, held in place by a coronet of freshly-cut forget-me-nots. A corsage of Hollywood roses and maiden-hair fern completed the ensemble.

CO-OPERATION BETWEEN CANADA'S SOLDIERS AND AIRMEN

In addition to the Canadian airmen already with the fighter and bomber commands in Britain, the R.C.A.F. has now formed a complete Army Co-operation Squadron. The word "conscript" roused the ire of the French Canadian people. They have been taught to believe, strongly we think, that the word is against them. But if 100 Canadian leaders were to start out tomorrow to explain to Canadians, including French-Canadians, how the selective draft works in the United States and how it could be applied to Canada, we doubt if it would find finer welcome anywhere than in the province of Quebec, where recently Premier Godbout declared: "We are as British as anyone. We are in this war to fight to the end and are willing to bear any sacrifice asked of us."

Why shake the "must" of the big stick under the noses of Canadians? Uncle Sam has shown us a better way, the way of selective service. Let's talk it up—Ferne Free Press.

USE A LITTLE JUDGMENT

There's one word that ought to be wiped off the Canadian dictionary for the duration of the war. That word is "conscript." Against the background of the "Great War" it is a word that is full of political dynamite. It's a word calculated to promote disunity among Canadians at the very time when what we need most is unity.

Why are we not politically smart enough to forget the word and substitute something better? Why do politicians persist in talking conscription when what they really mean is selective service?

Uncle Sam has a much better way of getting an army than by conscription, which has an implication of Nazi brute force. The selective service draft in the United States is accepted as fair to everybody, and it has an element of luck in the draw, that appeals to young men. "Wonder when my name is coming up?" the young fellow asks. And they're all prepared for it when the wheel turns.

WORLD'S LARGEST WHEAT ORDER

The United Kingdom's ministry of food, largest buyers of wheat in the world, has broken its own record with an order for 120,000,000 bushels (about 3,000,000 tons) placed with the Canadian Wheat Board.

The previous largest purchase was of 100,000,000 bushels, ordered by the ministry last year. The new commitment is to be delivered during the 12 months ending May, 1942.

Reckoning 568 four-pound loaves to the ton of wheat, and using white flour of 76 per cent extraction, this will provide Britain with 3,378,000,000 of the two-pound loaves her housewives favor. There will also be 750,000 tons of wheat-feed in the form of bran, middlings and wheat germ meal, for Britain's dairy cows, beef cattle, pigs and poultry.

If the wheat is converted into 85 per cent extraction national wheat-meal flour, 4,080,000,000 two-pound loaves would be produced, but only 450,000 tons would be available for livestock feeding.

As Britain does not at present make more than ten loaves in every hundred from the higher extraction flour, a total of 3,448,200,000 loaves, representing about 9,500,000 loaves a day for the twelve months, is what Britain will obtain from this order.

Its "home-town" editorials deal with matters of intimate interest to them. Its "by-me-news" advertisements by local dealers are based on friendly knowledge of their needs.

The circulation of Canadian Weekly Newspapers in Canada's 69% "home-town" major market total 2,800,000. That's coverage for you. But coverage is only half the story. Something Quite New

Saying It With Onions Has Become Popular In Britain

That anyone anywhere should go into raptures over an onion may sound strange to those in Canada, who are familiar with the broad expanse of muck and other soils devoted to the growth of this crop, or to the housewife who buys these tasty bulbs at the corner store. In Britain where emphasis is now placed on the production of crops which yield most food per acre, the onion has been relegated to a position of lesser importance in the national economy. Besides, the crop on the restricted areas was a failure last year, and the onion has become as rare as the banana over there.

A letter from a home in Glasgow acknowledged receipt of a gift of onions from Ontario. They had to be shared with others, some going to relatives in Aberdeen, while the man of the house took one choice specimen to the office and showed members of the staff what an onion looks and smells like! Saying it with onions sounds like something new.

Does Not Sound Attractive

Doctor Tells How You May Live To Be A Hundred

The St. Thomas Times-Journal says: An American physician advises everybody to take a day, or most of a day in bed every week, exclusive, we presume, of the extra hour or so on Sundays, because he must not put a ban on churchgoing. With that advice he cordially agrees—only it "can't be did." But another doctor comes to bat with this order: Eat less of everything, especially pies, pastries, cakes, sauces, fried food, highly seasoned foods, dishes you especially like; abstain from alcohol at all times, don't smoke, don't drink hot drinks or cold ones; go to bed early and take it easy at work. If you do that, see he, you'll live to be 100, provided you have a fairly sound constitution.

His advice may be good, but who wants to live to be 100 without having plenty of pie?

Now is the time to tear into work so hard that the boss will miss you while you are on vacation.

An Old Objective

Hitler's Plan For Merging Europe And Africa Not Altogether New
It may be that the anticipated early announcement of German plans for a "European autarchy," a merger of continental Europe and at least the northern part of Africa as a single economic unit, is the result of Hitler's feeling that some such action is necessary to meet the growing co-operation among the British Commonwealth, the United States, the Belgian, Free French, Dutch and other colonies.

But that is not the whole story. This self-sufficient European combination is an old objective of Nazi politics. It is an inherent part of the dream of a central and dominant German core, surrounded by satellites such as France and Italy, controlling the rest of Europe and exploiting Africa. It is part of the outline of the future which Hitler has taken over from such experts as Prof. Haushofer who was the friend of Hess and who has been reported to have been arrested since Hess fled to Britain.

It would be a most unhappy, if temporarily powerful, combination. Just think of the conditions under which the Poles, the Dutch, the Danes, the Norwegians and others are living and picture them in even more terrible form in France's African colonies and you have something of the story.

The report from Vichy that Hitler and Stalin had arranged at a secret meeting that the Ukraine would serve as the "breadbasket" of the new autarchy is just a further evidence that the forces of oppression are being thoroughly organized.—Sault Daily Star.

The Poet's Inspiration

Story Of A Soldier In An English Military Hospital

"This true story is told by a Birmingham soldier on leave from a northern military hospital. A poet was among the injured men in battle when he had to be taken to the operating theatre. As he came round from the anaesthetic he murmured: 'Give me a pencil and paper. I have an inspiration.'"

Five minutes passed before writing material could be found. Then it was too late. "I had the most wonderful poem in my head, waiting to be written down, but now it's all gone," whispered the soldier poet. "But perhaps it may come back to me later."

A few days later he had another operation, and remembering his inspiration produced under anaesthetic, the soldier in charge had pencil and paper ready, to press into his hand as he was taken to the operating theatre. "Write whatever is in your mind," he was urged. Still half-dazed, the poet scribbled his pencil over the pad, then stopped. They looked over his shoulder. He had written, "What a horrible smell!"

Cure For Worry

English Surgeon Performs Operation On Worried Patient

You can be operated on to cure your worries.

An English surgeon operated on the brain of a man who was excessively worried.

All that was necessary was to make a cut in the temple, so as to separate the worry centres of the brain from the emotional centres.

After the operation, the man's character was completely changed. He had been brusque and morose. Afterwards, he was happy and gay.

People who worry unduly about the air-raids may be cured if the operation comes into general use.

But doctors say there is one danger about it.

The cure is so complete that patients will not worry at all about anything. They will not be able to. They might become irresponsible.

Plenty To Worry About

One Man In Canada Is Fed Up With President Roosevelt

Mr. Aug Hoffman deserves just a moment of your time and a lot of your sympathy. His job is to maintain bridges on the Canadian National Railway through Algonquin park and he could do it, too, but for the heavens. The Vancouver Sun tells the story of Mr. Hoffman's difficulties.

The beavers dammed up the streams against the railway tracks, and when Mr. Hoffman rigged up a water wheel, with tin cans on it to frighten the beavers, they just shoved a pole between the spokes and stopped it. After that they covered the wheel with sticks and mud.

Then Mr. Hoffman left a lantern shining to scare the beavers away at night, but they covered it up, too, and imposed a blackout.

Mr. Hoffman built a culvert, 12 feet long to carry off the water that had piled up behind the beavers' dam, but the beavers just plugged up the culvert.

Mr. Hoffman built a fence around the dam to keep the beavers away and they took the fence pickets and built the dam up higher, which we would call adding insult to injury.

This is the beaver, the national mascot and accepted representative of Canada. We are sorry for Mr. Hoffman, but we are rather cheered up in these times to hear that the beaver is the kind of fellow who sticks to the job.—Calgary Albertan.

Bombed Out

Two London Newspapers Suffer From Recent Raid

The London News Chronicle and The Star, which are published in the same plant, were bombed out in a recent raid but neither missed an edition.

The censor permitted publication of the fact that a large amount of machinery in the plant in Bowdrie street was destroyed by two direct hits, one a high-explosive bomb and the other a big oil bomb. There were no casualties.

The Daily Sketch offered its plant facilities, and the two papers went to the rival establishment to continue publication. The News Chronicle is a morning paper, The Star an evening paper.

Dropped From Plane

Eye Glasses Belonging To Air Instructor Found Unbroken

While working in his garden, A. Stewart Clark, Hamilton, Ont., picked up a pair of eye glasses, and the solution he came to was "the glasses were in the centre of the garden, and the only place they could have come from was a plane."

On investigating further he discovered that W. C. Warren, chief instructor at a nearby airfield, had lost the glasses the day before as he helped sorted Victory Loan circulars over the city.

His glasses were returned unbroken.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 6
THE GOSPEL IS TAKEN INTO EUROPE

Golden text: Come over into Macedonia and help us. Acts 16:9.
Lesson: Acts 15:36-18:21.
Devotional reading: Philippians 4:4-9.

Explanations and Comments

A Turning Point In The History of The World: The Call of the West, Acts 16:9-10. The two missionaries were not to be disheartened by these hindrances to their plans, but kept on to Troas on the Aegean Sea. Here they were at the gateway to Europe. As Paul walked the streets he saw a motley crowd and among them many Europeans. He must have stood in the harbor and gazed at the islands fringing the coast of Macedonia, and must have longed to cross over and possess that part of the world for Christ.

When these four men, Paul and Silas, Timothy (16:3) and Luke, went down to the water to look for a vessel that might take them across the sea, they probably had no idea how important was the step they were taking. This decision of Paul was in very truth, a turning point in the history of the world. It challenged for the first time the whole of western civilization with the gospel of Jesus Christ, and we cannot picture what would have been the consequences had they not gone.

The Gospel Taken Into Europe. From Troas they took ship directly to the island of Samothrace, and on the following day reached Neapolis in Macedonia. From Neapolis to Philippi was a nine miles' trip inland. Philippi was a Roman colony and claimed the distinction of being "the first of the district."

The First Converts in Europe, Acts 16:13-15. There could not have been any synagogue in Philippi, or Paul could have preached there on the Sabbath. Beyond the city limits, there was a place of prayer by the river-side, and thither Paul turned his footsteps. He found there a company of women, among whom was Lydia, a prosperous merchant from Thyatira, who dealt in purple-dyed garments. She was a Jewish proselyte, for it is said of her that she worshipped the gods. Paul gave his message to this little group of women, and "the Lord opened her heart to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul"; she believed the good news, and with her household was baptized, and then she took her home as all abode for the two missionaries.

Won Championship

Young Detroit Schoolboy Proved He Was Good Speller

Louis Edward Sisman, a 13-year-old eighth-grader from Detroit, who wants to be a newspaperman and right now can probably spell the ears of most reporters, won the 1941 national spelling championship, says a Newswatch, New York. He met and defeated 28 other finalists in a bee in the National Press Club auditorium in Washington. Culled from 2,500,000 youngsters in local bee sponsored by newspapers throughout the nation, the spellers had tough material to contend with. On the first round, eight were blitzed out of the running when they flubbed sarcasm, harassment, misadventure, bifurcated, cacemination, campantia, and euthanasia. At one point, young Sisman spelled Rubicon instead of rubicund and was banished from the stage until the judges realized he was merely confused by the pronunciation. All but five had dropped out after the twentieth round.

Finally, the field narrowed down to the Detroit boy and Phyllis Davis of Akron, Ohio, also 13 and in the eighth grade, who pitted her IQ of 156 against Louis' 132. Serious and poised, he calmly demanded "meaning, please" when given a strange word. Phyllis frequently pondered every syllable for long minutes before taking the leap. And after a three-hour struggle, which took them through round No. 103, nonchalance won out over IQ. Phyllis, who really knows better, spelled it crysanthemum. Thereupon Louis rattled off initials and took the championship.

Wheat Kernels Are Cleaned The Same As Metallic Ores

'Food Industries' says: Borrowing a method long used in cleaning metallic ores, Theodore Earle, a mining engineer, has developed a way to remove the rough outer hulls from wheat kernels without in any way damaging the remaining part of the wheat berry. These hulls are light, fibrous and tough, and contain practically none of the nutritive elements of wheat.

TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

CHLOROPHYLL FOR COLDS

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. Benjamin Grunkin announces that 1,300 cases of infection ranging from peritonitis to pyorrhea and the common cold had been treated with a large measure of success by chlorophyll. Green and red are the colors of life. Chlorophyll is the green of plants and human beings eat green plants to the benefit of their health.

Dr. Grunkin says that for lung and brain diseases, abdominal infections such as peritonitis, a solution of chlorophyll in salt water was applied directly to the infected surfaces either in wet dressings or through soft rubber tubes. Indolent ulcers and weeping skin diseases were treated with a paste of chlorophyll and lanoline. Even floods of the green stuff do no harm to living tissues.

The most spectacular results were obtained in the treatment of sinus infections and common colds. In more than 1,000 cases treated at Temple University Hospital, Philadelphia, there was "not a single case relapsed in which either improvement or cure did not take place." Patients with mild colds sniffed chlorophyll nose drops once a day. Those with severe sinus infections wore chlorophyll packs or had large amounts pumped up their noses once every day for a period even as long as seven months.

Chlorophyll seems to act (1) by increasing the resistance to bacteria; or (2) by releasing oxygen which prevents bacteria from forming poison. Chlorophyll is bland and soothing and thus has a great advantage over antiseptics, many of which are harsh and irritating. It is usually obtained from nettles.

Transfer Of 1,000 Radio Men For Overseas Work

Britain's new civilian technical corps to run the secret radio locator device of the Royal Air Force is open to Canadians as well as Americans, a spokesman for the British technical mission to Canada said. A drive for 10,000 members for the new corps has been opened in the United States. Canada's part in providing technicians for the device has included transfer of 1,000 radio men overseas already. Months ago, authorities started quietly enlisting radio experts. They combed the lists of the national registration taken last year. When the supply of men with training was exhausted, the R.C.A.F. and the emergency training plan of the labor department started to train men. Many of them university undergraduates, some 2,500 recruits are in training in Canadian universities this summer. A big increase in training of radio mechanics in technical school will be launched shortly by the labor department, the Free Press learned.

Volunteers can enter the corps through the British mission in Ottawa or at the Montreal transit pool at Lower Canada college. The corps also needs fitters, metal workers, machine tool operators, setters and electricians.

He was in his 57th year, and is survived by his wife, one daughter and one son; also his mother, two sisters and three brothers.

Designed to encourage oil drilling in Alberta, new regulations have been brought into effect. The new orders will have the effect of easing conditions in regard to depreciation and depletion of wells, and geological, survey and exploratory costs may be written off in the year in which they are incurred. Rates of depreciation and depletion allowable are cited in the new order.

We received a message on Monday afternoon that the weather on July 1st would be favorable to the Blairmore celebration and sports. That message, had it come from Panistic Hitler, would have been in reverse. Poor Adolf—day by day we can realize his own realization of a downfall. Anyway, the weather man proved true to his word, for never was Blairmore better favored.

On the air over the week end there were no echoes from campers.

Hillcrest came to Blairmore on bloc on July first, and all enjoyed the day.

Miss Mabel Smead, nurse-in-training at Galt hospital, Lethbridge, is home on vacation.

If one plays golf and the other bridge, they aren't really married—they just sleep at the same place.

Safety first! A wedding procession on Saturday last was headed by a truckload of hay. Lunch guaranteed!

Fred Gregory, manager of the Lethbridge Union hotel, Calgary, spent the early part of the week in Hillcrest.

Mrs. A. H. Denoon, of Lethbridge, is guest of her sister-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. MacDonald, at Westville, Nova Scotia.

Mrs. F. Gilroy, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Pries, of Hillcrest, and small daughter, returned over the week end from a visit to Vancouver.

The reputation of a man is like his shadow — sometimes follows him, sometimes precedes him, sometimes longer and sometimes shorter than his natural size.

A laborer does not have to ask for a permit to collect his wages. A farmer must get a permit to sell his produce. It's just edging a little bit in on the Nazi system.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawson, accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, of Kimberley, passed east through Blairmore on Tuesday, enroute on holiday to Calgary, Banff and other points. Stopping off here for a few hours they met many old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton, of Coleman, announce the marriage of their niece, Mrs. Margaret Bell, of Buffalo, N.Y., to Mr. William Milley, of Coleman. The marriage took place in Central United church, Calgary, on June 21st. Mr. and Mrs. Milley have taken up residence in Coleman.

Thomas Barnes, one of Blairmore's oldtimers, drifted into town from Vancouver on Tuesday evening, and spent a few days here before proceeding to Calgary and other points.

District schools entered upon their summer vacation the early part of the week. Most of The Pass teachers are away to other points for the holiday, while some are attending summer school sessions.
